II. Read the following passage and then answer the questions below.

Growing up in the middle of a huge forest in Ontario meant Ella McCarthy was in touch with nature. She learned the names of the wildflowers in the woods and meadows. She learned the names of the trees. In the early spring, Ella picked little dandelion leaves for salad. From the stream, her mother brought home watercress. These greens were made into delicious salads. By the end of May, Ella and her father looked for berries on the Juneberry tree. They picked the plump berries and took them home for a fine sauce. Next the pin cherries were ripe for picking. They picked these tiny bright red fruits from a tree in a meadow near the town. No one else wanted the pin cherries, except some birds, so Ella and her father picked them for cherry juice. These cherries were sour but full of vitamins, her father said. The McCarthys drank the juice to prevent colds.

In the summer, Ella went with her father to pick wild strawberries, raspberries, blueberries, and blackberries. They took the berries home in baskets, sat at the kitchen table, and cleaned them. Bits of leaves and stems went into a pile, and the cleaned berries went into an iron pot with sugar. Ella's mother cooked the berries and made jam for the winter. She poured the jam into clean pint jars. She poured some hot wax into the jam jars to protect the fruit from spoiling. These small jars waited on the basement shelves.

In the fall, Ella and her father went to the wild apple trees in the woods. They collected the fruit and carried home bushel baskets full of apples. They peeled the apples for canning. Ella's mother prepared the glass jars, and when the apples were cooked, apples for winter pies and applesauce went into the jars. The gleaming quart jars of apples went to the shelves in the basement too, for winter meals. They preserved the fruit for later use.

III. Read the following passage and then choose the letter that best answers each of the questions below.

I had never really lived on a farm, but my mother's Uncle John had a farm. So I spent time there, like all the other children in the family. The farm was just a few miles from town, so we could ride our bicycles there. Aunt Wanda, my cousins, and the hired help all liked children. So we felt welcome there. Some very interesting things happened on that farm. I learned a lot about life and a lot about people there.

I learned about having a job and motivation. As we grew older, we were asked if we wanted to work on the farm. One job that we all liked was picking beans. Uncle John planted several acres of green beans every spring, and in the middle of July, the beans were ready to begin picking. He drove his yellow truck to town every morning and picked up his bean-pickers. He made two stops, one at the park and one closer to our house. At seven in the morning, we children would be ready. We had our buckets and paper sacks with our lunches. We wore light-colored long-sleeved shirts. We had big straw hats, too, to protect our heads from the sun. We were off to earn money for special things that we wanted.

Picking beans was not hard work. Each person took one row, knelt on a folded burlap sack, and pushed back the leaves. We were supposed to pluck the long green beans and put them in our pails. When a bucket was full, we emptied the beans into big clean burlap sacks. We called these bags gunnysacks. A gunnysack could hold about 70 pounds of beans. Most days, we children each picked one bag full. We got paid for this work. Uncle John weighed the sacks at the end of the day. He deducted two pounds for the weight of the sack. Aunt Wanda figured out how much we had earned and paid us three cents a pound.
