It was an extraordinary idea, which would have to work.

If the entire Egyptian assault was to be success.

Four hours into the attack, And with fighting raging around them.

The Egyptian engineers finally broke through the ran pass.

And the first tank starts to pull through.

I never believed I will see the day when I was in Sinai.

But this was actually Sinai.

I looked back at the west bank.

And all the green of the other side, And to the east all I could see is desert. It was good feeling.

The eastern bank of the canal, Now became a battlefield.

The Israelis manning the forts, Spread machine gun fire on their Egyptian attacker.

To try and strain the time. but within 2 hours, 23 thousand of Egyptian infantry were in the east bank.
