

1) language processing is mind-internal and thus cannot be seen /observed :

- A- True
- B- wrong
- C-Probably
- D -I do not know

2) Lexical items are organized alphabetically in :

- A- Brain
- B-Dictionary
- C- A @ B
- D-All the answers wrong

3) Tip of the tongue means :

- A- Mind-internal and thus cannot be seen or observed
- B- Remembering some details about a word ,but not the word itself
- C-Remembering all details about a word
- D-Forget all the details about the words in the brain

4) In psycholinguistics , one thing we can learn from the tip of the tongue phenomenon is that :

- A- Lexical entries are organised alphabetically in our mind
- B- Lexical entries are easy to foget
- C- Entries are grouped in the mind (according to their meaning and sound
- D- entries are stored independently in the mind

5) Lexical entries are grouped in the brain as a complex network , according to :

- A- a dictionary
- B- Their sound and meaing
- C- Their sound only
- D A @ C

6) Vocabulary experiments means :

- A- Lexical decision and priming experiments
- B- Lexical decision experiment only

- C- Priming experiment
- D- All the answers wrong

7) Lexical decision and priming are two experiments which help us :

- A- understand
- B- learn
- C- write
- D- B @ c